

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention provides an information processor for easily inserting a suitable transition clip between scenes for editing data. The information processor for editing input data performs an obtaining step of obtaining metadata of the data; a selecting step of selecting a transition clip used for adding a transition effect to the data based on the metadata; and a processing step of adding a transition effect to the data by using the transition clip.